

Songwriter, Singer, Producer and Performer Cliff Wallach Greenberg has been involved in the south Florida music scene for over 20 years. Cliff is proficient in every type of music from written notation to performance of bass, guitar, piano and voice. Most people know him around town as “teacher” as he has been raising youths knowledge of music from their first lesson to their first album. Formerly the Bassist for INHOUSE, a south Florida local band that opened for such acts as (caution, serious name dropping about to ensue): The Black Crows, Ani DiFranco, Lillith Fair, Sunfest, Edwin McCain, Hall and Oates and Ziggy Marley. Cliff has also been involved with many local original bands; gigging at every bar and concert club from the Keys to Orlando. In 2015 Cliff opened "Studio 19" a music development studio and is producing many local musicians and songwriters. Currently, Cliff is one of the lead vocalist/ Guitarist in The ShinDig.